

STANDARD & POOR'S

Mark Arbeter
Chief Technical Analyst

Mark Arbeter joined Standard & Poor's MarketScope in 1987. Mark became S&P's chief technical analyst in 1995 and is now S&P's chief technical strategist. He provides technical analysis on the stock market as well as many other markets to MarketScope, The Outlook, BusinessWeek.com, Advisor Insight, and many other services. Mark has been quoted by financial publications and outlets such as the Wall Street Journal, Investors Business Daily, Bloomberg, TheStreet.com, Fortune, Worth, and MarketWatch.com. He has appeared on CNBC, CNN, Bloomberg TV, ROBTV, TV Tokyo and has done interviews for CBS radio.

Mark is a member of S&P's Investment Policy Committee, which sets investment allocation levels for many services. He also manages a stock portfolio (investment ideas) for MarketScope, applying technical analysis to S&P'S STARS recommendations. He is a Chartered Market Technician (CMT) and serves on the Market Technician Association's Membership Committee.

Mark holds a Masters in Business Administration from Rider University, with concentrations in Finance and Economics. He received his Bachelors in Business Administration from Temple University, also with concentrations in Finance and Economics.